CONTINUATIONS

11 – 22 FEBRUARY 2026

Continuations brings together a collection of sculptural reliefs made over a four-year period, all produced in my home studio which I have come to call the 'Bunker'.

This is my third body of work, and during it's development, I became increasingly aware of how my responses to social and environmental change have evolved over time. Alongside this outward attention, I've also found myself drawn back to the domestic – it's spaces, routines, quiet tensions, and the long tradition in art of interpreting everyday interiors.

An ongoing engagement with mid-to-late Modernism continues to shape my work, offering a framework through which these broader concerns can coexist.

Most of these pieces are shaped from a single block of wood, mechanically reduced in stages and finished by hand, a process that allows for both control and variability.
